Commissioner Marc D. Sarnoff, City of Miami District 2, with City Manager Pete Hernandez, to Host Premier Private Screening of Acclaimed Documentary on America's Financial Crisis

(Miami, Florida)--- Commissioner Marc D. Sarnoff, City of Miami District 2, with City Manager Pete Hernandez, and local elected officials hold first ever municipal private screening in the United States of "I.O.U.S.A. ONE NATION. UNDER STRESS. IN DEBT," on Thursday, October 30th, at 6:30PM in the Miami City Hall Chambers at 3500 Pan American Drive.

Is the U.S. going broke? I.O.U.S.A is a highly acclaimed documentary which examines and explains America's pending financial meltdown. From the studio that created the hit "Supersize Me," I.O.U.S.A is an enlightening and alarming look at our soaring national debt and what the future could hold for all Americans.

Robert Bixby, head of the non-partisan Concord Coalition which is backing the film, will answer questions from South Florida's top decision makers about America's "fiscal cancer" and what can be done to stop it.

Who: Commissioner Marc D. Sarnoff, City of Miami District 2, with City Manager Pete Hernandez
